Meet your presenter

Bronwyn Cochrane

A proud Gamilaraay woman from north-west NSW. Bronwyn is the founder and CEO of TIPIAC (Teaching Indigenous Perspectives In the Australian Curriculum). With over 20 years teaching experience in remote, rural and urban settings. Bronwyn has worked with educators to help them create innovative ways of embedding Indigenous perspectives into their daily lessons. She mentored honour students in their 4th year of Global Challenges science degree at Monash University Melbourne and she has worked with Private and Public school systems to embed Indigenous culture and history into curriculum programs. Bronwyn has been to two World Indigenous People's Conference on Education (WIPCE) in New Zealand and also in Melbourne. With her background knowledge, passion for education and her love of her history and culture makes her perfect person to help you build your own cultural capabilities to include authentic Indigenous perspectives into your teaching programs. Bronwyn also works with schools at a holistic level to help embed rich authentic Indigenous culture and history into school cultures.

Embedding Authentic Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander perspectives into Numeracy lessons. (K-6)

Embedding Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander perspectives into our everyday lessons can be a challenge. In this presentation we take a look at 'how' this can be done authentically. We look at ways we as teachers can authentically embed rich Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander perspectives in everyday maths lessons from Kindergarten to Year 6.
